18 Generals Reassigned; Seven Retire

President Gives Full Approval To List Of Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House Friday announced a major shake-up in the Air Force high command with 18 generals to be reassigned and seven retired.

The changes are a follow-up of the appointment of Gen. Curtis E. LeMay as new Air Force chief of staff.

The reassignments were approved by President Kennedy and involve 13 promotions. The retirements are because of age.

Gen. Samuel E. Anderson, commander of the Air Force logistics command will become air deputy to the Supreme Allied Commander Gen. Lauris Norstad, in Europe. He will replace Gen. Leon W. Johnson who has been placed on the retirement list.

World Leaders Confer Today

East-West Watching Outcome

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The leaders of a divided world's two rival camps open a summit meeting Saturday in this gracious old city on the blue Danube.

Cautious and barely hopeful, President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev publicly expect to come away with little more than a richer knowledge of each other's personality and policy. They do not expect to work and major changes in two days.

Khrushchev arrived in Vienna Friday afternoon after passing through a gate in a complex barbed wire fence that forms the Iron Curtain cutting Czechoslovakia off from Austria.

Kennedy is due today from Paris and his talks with French President Charles de Gaulle. In the French capital Friday, Kennedy said he feels greater confidence because of the conferences there.

KHRUSHCHEV

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

VIENNA (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev smiled and waved his way into a heavily guarded Vienna Friday night for an exchange of views with President Kennedy on "major world problems."

Almost nobody smiled or waved back.

The Viennese who remember 10 postwar years of Russian occupation stopped only to stare at the bouncy chief of the Kremlin who was whisked from the railroad station through the center of town in a red upholstered open car.

There were a few whistles—a sign of derision in Vienna.

Austrian authorities were hoping fervently nothing would happen to their unpredictable guest. They assigned 6,000 police to guard him and Kennedy. The route of Khrushchev's special train from the Czech border was covered by helicopters. Pierce police dogs were stationed outside his suburban villa.

Meets Cool Crowds

If Khrushchev hoped to steal the scene from the young American President who arrives Saturday he failed. But he did not seem to mind. The crowd was cool but he treated them to a typical smiling, hand-shaking barn storming show.

Citizens who momentarily lined the streets from the south station to the Hofburg Palace did so because they had to: police stopped traffic and no one could cross the street.

Moscow radio's report of Khrushchev's reception was a startling contrast.

It accused right-wing newspapers of publishing the wrong arrival time so no one would come out to meet the premier but it reported the "people of Vienna who loathe war welcomed Khrushchev as the envoy of peace... thousands of inhabitants were awaiting him."

Way Out Of Impasse

Kennedy is coming here to try to find a way out of the impasse that is blocking any progress in easing Communist pressure from Laos in Southeast Asia to Berlin in the heart of Europe. Khrushchev took note of this in the arrival speech Friday:

"We have come to Vienna to meet with the United States President, Mr. Kennedy, to establish a personal contact with him and to exchange views on the major problems that affect relations between the Soviet Union and the United States of America."

"We... would like all outstanding issues to be settled as soon as possible. But we know that everything cannot be done at once."

Khrushchev apparently was hoping for a "spirit of Vienna" to follow the one-time spirit of Geneva and the spirit of Camp David—but on his own terms.

KENNEDY

By STEWART HENSLEY

PARIS (UPI)—President Kennedy ended his historic meeting with President Charles de Gaulle Friday with a prediction that the differences among the Communist powers may burst some day into full-fledged rivalries.

On the eve of his Vienna meeting Saturday with Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Kennedy said he believed the tide of history was running in favor of the free world instead of the Communists and added he was going to the Khrushchev meeting with a "good deal of confidence."

He and De Gaulle ended their three days of talks closely aligned on their obligations and responsibilities toward Berlin but with no promise to fight for it. Observers believed, however, the two men had not settled all their differences in six separate conferences. Kennedy referred to a news conference to the "somewhat strange" relations in a situation where Albania sides with Communist China in its ideological dispute with Russia and said this was one of the reasons he believed time was working in favor of the free world and not the Communists.

He said he hoped Khrushchev would not be misled by American differences on such things as governmental spending but would realize the United States "is united in its determination to fulfill its commitments and to play the role that history and its own free choice have brought upon it these years."

Plunges Into Strategy

With characteristic flourish Kennedy plunged Friday night into the strategy of his weekend meeting with Khrushchev. Less than an hour after the De Gaulle talks ended he met with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Ambassador to Moscow Llewellyn Thompson.

His crowded schedule was jammed even tighter by the last minute addition of an extra hour's conference with De Gaulle—a fact observers believed indicated failure of the two men to solve all the Franco-American differences despite a glowing communique.

The communique emphasized the traditional friendship between France and the United States but left unanswered whether they had solved the differences on NATO and sharing atomic secrets that weakened the alliance in the past.

During the day Kennedy made these pronouncements:

On his talks with Khrushchev: "The prime use of my meeting with Khrushchev consists of making him understand in the most complete way possible our points of view. Two conferences are now underway at Geneva. If our meeting can help them make progress this will also be very useful. Finally, it is certainly important to talk with one's allies, but it is equally essential to exchange views with those from which we are separate."

Reach Accord On Berlin

On the American position toward Berlin:

"The communique said there was a fundamental accord between Kennedy and De Gaulle on their 'obligations and responsibilities concerning Berlin.' Kennedy told newsmen at lunch he and De Gaulle were united in their belief that Communist force or threat of force should not be permitted to drive the Western allies out of Berlin. He did not make a flat (Continued on Page 2, col. 4)

Trujillo Assassin Slain; Three Others Captured

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican armed forces of young Rafael Trujillo Jr. announced Friday the assassination of his father has been partly avenged by the slaying of one assassin and capture of three others by special agents.

But the military conceded the accused mastermind, ex-Brig. Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, got away, and said he is being hunted.

The announcement came as a dramatic aftermath of a massive funeral in tribute to the old dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo Sr., 69, who was cut down from ambush Tuesday night.

The military statement said one assassin was machine-gunned to death Thursday while firing at special agents from behind an aunt in whose home he was found hiding here. It said another was seized in the home of a Roman Catholic priest.

Despite an old feud between the Trujillos and the church over repressive measures under the dictatorship, the slain feudal ruler was given Catholic funeral rites at his home city, San Cristobal, 25 miles from the capital.

Efforts went ahead here to give the old Trujillo dictatorship a future under 32-year-old Lt. Gen. Rafael Jr. and the nominal government chiefs who served his father. Rafael Jr. was a year-old infant when Rafael Sr. took over in 1930.

Rafael Jr. — a colonel by appointment of his father at 3 and a brigadier general at 9 — became chief of the air, sea and land forces Thursday night by decision of the government heads.

Late Friday afternoon, after the funeral, Rafael Jr. was confirmed in the newly created post by unanimous vote — 24-0 in the Senate and 60-0 in the Chamber of Deputies.

The armed forces, now under command of Rafael Trujillo Jr., the slain strongman's son, said the dead assassin was Lt. Amado Garcia Guerrero, who had served as an aide to Dominican President Joaquin Balaguer.

One captured assassin, the announcement said, was Pedro Livio Cedeno, former army captain, who was wounded in the ambush exchange between assassins and Trujillo Sr. and his chauffeur.

Retired Brig. Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, former Trujillo collaborator, has been named as the chief assassin. (Continued on Page 2, col. 4)

Survivor Gives Description Of Death Camps

JERUSALEM (AP) — A survivor of the Nazi death camps told the Eichmann trial court Friday that the "SS men were drunk with blood" when they drove Jewish men, women and children into the gas chambers.

Israel Guttman, a broad-shouldered, bespectacled veteran of the Warsaw ghetto uprising, said he was a witness when a group of naked Jews were led to their deaths at the Maidanek camp in 1943.

"I saw the march of the naked people. Among them was a boy, about 10 years of age. I saw that the boy had in his arms a smaller child. And I saw two SS men, one pointing out the scene to the other. They were laughing," he testified.

"I wanted to see if there was a spark of humanity in their eyes. But I always met the same gaze. When we were sad and grieving they were happy. Whenever they could torture us they laughed. They were drunk with blood."

13-Year-Old Boy Kills Stepfather

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 13-year-old boy stabbed his stepfather to death with a paring knife Thursday night.

Police said the stepfather, Carl R. Barber, 34, was stabbed in the back while he was arguing with the boy's mother in the family's Southeast Washington home.

The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Junta Trying To Legalize Power Grab

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — The ruling military junta rushed against time Friday to legalize its power seizure before the opening of a United Nations investigation Saturday.

United Nations diplomats were due here at noon Saturday, but a new basic law was expected to be promulgated before that hour.

The extraordinary session of the United Nations Commission for Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea (UNCURK) is headed by Mohammed Ali, Pakistani ambassador to Japan. Roberto Fuere-Barros, Chilean envoy to Tokyo, and N.A.J. De Voogt, Dutch ambassador to Japan are the other members.

The commission in its annual report to the United Nations is supposed to certify the legality of the Korean government and make sure it has been elected through democratic processes. The recent takeover by the military junta posed a delicate problem for the U. N. diplomats.

Former Radio Star Al Pearce, Dies

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Onetime radio star Al Pearce died Friday of complications from an ulcer operation. He was 62.

Pearce made millions in a radio career which began in 1926 in San Francisco. He was master of ceremonies on top network shows in the 1930s and for years had his own variety show, "Al Pearce and His Happy-Go-Lucky Gang."

He also appeared on comedy shows as Elmer Blunt, the bashful door-to-door salesman, who would knock and say: "Nobody home, I hope. I hope. I hope."

His second wife, Antoinette, lives in Bell, Calif.

Federal Judge Orders Halt To Freedom Riders

By The Associated Press

A federal judge who threatened Negro and white leaders alike with prison terms ordered "Freedom Riders" Friday to halt their racial challenge in Alabama until further notice.

In a series of sweeping decrees, U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., also put Montgomery police and a former reserve policeman under stern injunctions against bus violence, with indefinite prison sentences as the penalty for violation.

He also left in effect, until further court action, a restraining order issued earlier prohibiting the Ku Klux Klan and three individuals from any future violence against Freedom Riders or any other interstate bus passengers.

Although he put the blame for the recent race rioting in Montgomery and elsewhere in Alabama squarely on the Klan — and charged police with "willful failure" to prevent violence, Johnson was critical of Negro leaders and Freedom Rider organizations, too.

He said the segregation-challenging bus trips through Alabama "are directly causing an undue burden and restraint upon interstate commerce."

Denouncing the Freedom Riders as "agitation" and "nonbonafide interstate trips," Johnson declared, "those who sponsor, finance and encourage groups to come into this area with the knowledge that such publicized trips will foment violence... are just as effective in causing an obstruction" to interstate travel as the mobs themselves.

He issued a temporary restraining order against four Freedom Riders organizations — including the Congress of Racial Equality — and five Negro leaders, and "all persons acting in concert with them."

The injunction, which will remain in effect at least until a hearing set for June 12, prohibits the Freedom Rider groups from: "sponsoring, financing, assisting or encouraging any individual or groups of individuals in traveling in interstate commerce through or in Alabama for the purpose of testing the state or local laws as those laws relate to racial segregation."

Johnson also restrained the Freedom Rider sponsors from any other act "designed to cause violence upon, or threats toward" interstate bus passengers, or anything else which obstructs the movement "of bona fide interstate passengers."

Pledges Loans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The World Bank said Friday that a six-nation "Aid-To-India Club" has pledged loans totalling more than $2 billion to help India launch its third five-year plan. The United States promised $1,045,000,000 of the total sum, provided that other wealthy nations match this offer.

GOP Elects New National Chairman

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans Friday chose as their national chairman for the 1962 elections Rep. William E. Miller of New York, a fast-talking political warrior who loves to battle the Democrats.

The Republican National Committee unanimously elected Miller to succeed Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, who stepped down to devote more time to his own re-election campaign next year.

The election of Miller, who has been involved in a number of controversies during his 11 years in Congress, foreshadowed an especially vigorous 1962 congressional election campaign. He is a campaigner of the rock-'em, sock-'em school.

Miller lost no time in teeing off on President Kennedy and his administration. In his acceptance speech he said that "if we had a parliamentary form of government there would be a resounding vote of no confidence in the Kennedy administration."

"The American people now know there is one hell of a difference between a sense of history, tradition and a sense of history," he said.

Miller was nominated for the Famed Playwright Dies In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright George S. Kaufman, the so-called "gloomy dean" of Broadway, whose tart wit delighted theater audiences for nearly half a century, died Friday at the age of 71.

A series of strokes that began 18 months ago left him bedridden, and a final stroke caused his death at his Park Avenue home, where he lived alone except for his household staff.

"He held his wit and humor up to a few weeks ago," said his only child, a daughter, Anna Schneider. Kaufman was born in Pittsburgh, Nov. 14, 1889. He started his career as a newspaperman, working on the Washington Times and the New York Evening Mail.

He hit his stride as a member of the dramatic staff first on the New York Tribune, later on the Times.

Heiress Refuses To Give Up Trust Fund

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 22-year-old socialite descendant of the thrifty pioneers of Jamestown and Plymouth demanded possession Friday of a $3.8 million trust fund her philanthropic father wants her to donate to Princeton University.

The blonde blueblood, Diana Cullom Davis, through her attorney, sent a registered letter to the trustees of the trust, including her father Shelby Cullom Davis, asking that the fortune be turned over to her immediately. The trust provides that Diana can have the money on request after the age of 20.

"She's very upset about her father's attitude," said her attorney Julian Bush. "She feels that if he wants to be charitable, let him use his own money. He's a rich man. The trust fund is all that Miss Davis has and she is going to get married soon. Naturally she wants to hold on to it."

Stockbroker Davis flew off to Europe in a huff last Thursday night, likening himself to King Lear destroyed by a "greedy" daughter. He set up a meeting Thursday with Princeton President Robert Goheen and banker Harold Helm at which Diana was supposed to sign away the money, but Diana didn't show.

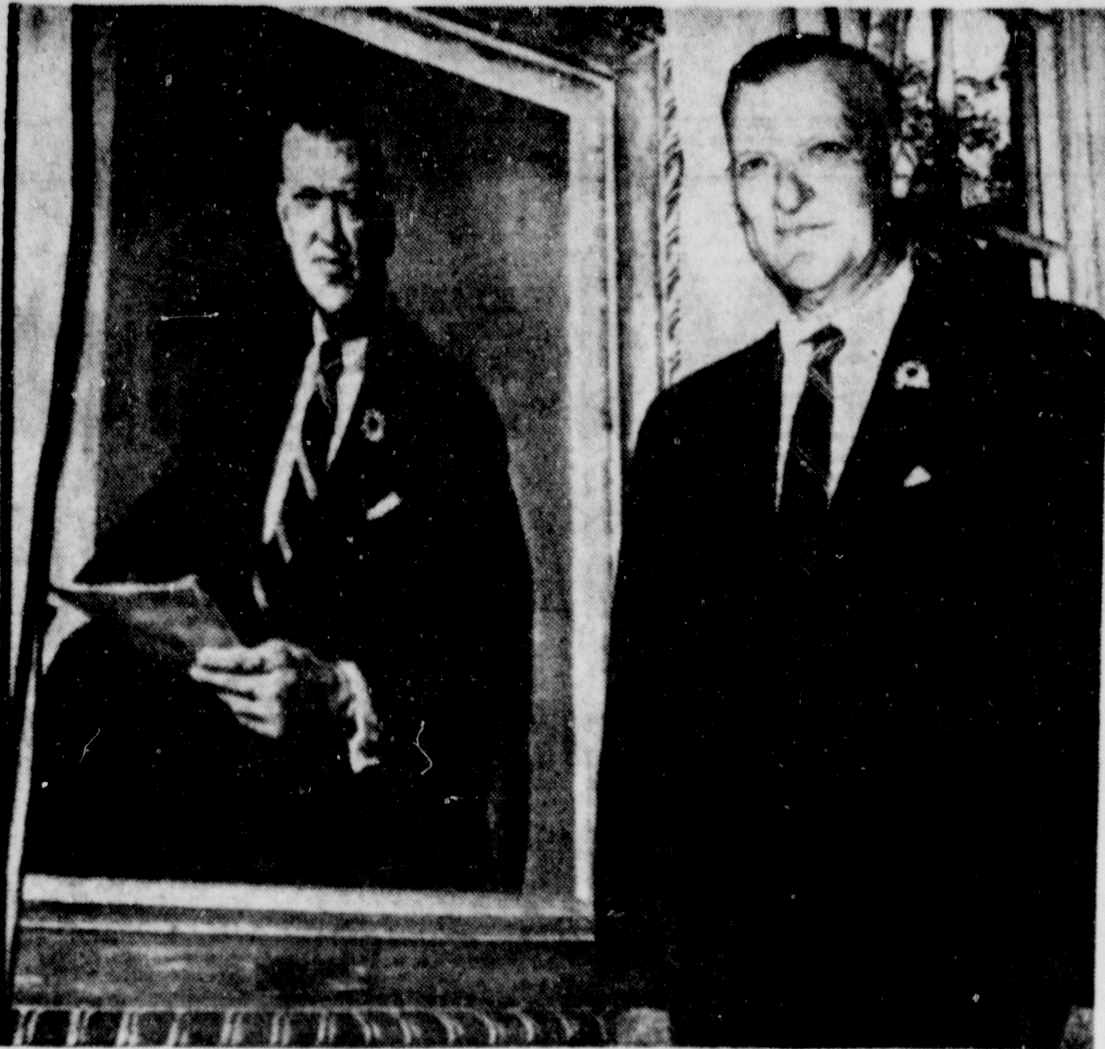

She was up in Massachusetts looking for a job teaching history.

Former Maryland Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, poses beside a portrait of him, unveiled yesterday at the State House. He wore the same suit and tie for the ceremony, that he wore while sitting for the painting by Albert Murray of New York City. Four-Year-Old Frederick Girl Drowns At Play

FREDERICK (AP)—A 4-year-old girl's daily walk with her pet dog to a lake near her home ended in tragedy Friday.

Police said Teresa Louise Offutt drowned in Culler Lake at Baker Park, which adjoins the street where she lived.

Richard Dutrow, a resident of the area out for a walk himself, said he saw the little girl skipping along with her mongrel dog and asked her where she was going.

"Down by the lake. I go there every day to play," the child replied. When Dutrow saw the dog come back dripping wet a short time later, he called police.

Teresa's blue dress could be seen in the water when police and an ambulance arrived. Artificial respiration, including mouth-to-mouth breathing, was futile and she was dead on arrival at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

The body was found in four feet of water near the boathouse of the lake, which covers more than an acre.

Kennedy

(Continued from Page 1) declaration the United States would fight to hold Berlin and told a questioner it would not be "expedient at this time" to answer fully.

On Red China: Kennedy told the news conference that United States was eager to have the "amity" of the Chinese people but that the government carried out malevolent attacks against his administration before he had a chance to work on the problem. It said better relations could improve Red China should give tangible proofs of good will by maintaining peace with its neighbors. He added: "No sign of this has appeared up to now."

On Franco-American relations: The United States will continue close consultations with France on all major issues. He said he was unable to promise France the nuclear secrets it wants but the matter was being studied. Reports the Central Intelligence Agency was mixed up with the abortive generals' revolt in Algeria were completely false, he said.

First official word on the assassins came after thousands of weeping and wailing Dominicans turned out for the old generalissimo's funeral and officials rallied to Rafael Jr., 32, in their project to perpetuate the dynasty of the old man who had ruled in feudal style for 31 years.

The elder Trujillo by dictatorial, undemocratic rule had alienated the rest of the Americas, and his regime was isolated by a diplomatic boycott, but the new regime is expected to try for peace with its neighbors.

The Dominican Congress met in special session after the funeral to deal with the immediate aftermath of the assassination of the elder Trujillo.

Crowds crashed through police lines to get near the slain strongman's closed casket, lined a 33-mile funeral route to watch his hearse go by, and stood 50,000 strong outside San Cristobal church during the final services.

Poorly dressed workmen and their wives rubbed elbows with this island nation's social elite outside the church as President Joaquin Balaguer eulogized Trujillo as a good man.

Through all this, members of Trujillo's family sat quietly along a wall, a few feet from the casket. Present were his widow, the two sons, a daughter, Dona Angela de Los Reyes del Corazon de Jesus; and five brothers, one of whom, Hector, once was president. Trujillo's other daughter, Flor de Oro, was unable to reach Ciudad Trujillo in time for the funeral.

No cause for the blasts has been determined.

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A world movie premiere will be held here June 14 without benefit of spotlights or big names from Hollywood.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A group of 27 Baltimoreans headed by Herbert R. O'Connor Jr., son of the late U.S. senator and former Maryland governor, announced Friday support of the plan to exchange tractors for prisoners in Cuba.

"The desire to save 1,200 brave men from incarceration and possible execution is consistent with the highest ideals of the American people," said a statement from the group. "We cannot overlook the fact that if we choose to ignore Castro's proposal we will be forsaking 1,200 human beings."

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—The emergency alert was sent over a multi-state police teletype system from the Air Force at Loring, Maine.

It asked officers to watch for Airman Robert Moore, traveling with his two children to his home in Bristol, Va. The need: Smallpox vaccinations — the family had been exposed before leaving on the auto trip.

Hagerstown police located Moore and his daughter and son, rushed them to the hospital and saw to it they received shots. Moore was rather puzzled by it all. He told authorities he and one of the youngsters already had received shots. But for safety sake, they submitted again.

Half an hour after the Moores had resumed their trip the correction came in from Maine—the family had been exposed to chicken-pox, not smallpox.

Two Members Quit Posts On Human Relations Unit

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Two members have resigned from the Montgomery County Human Relations Commission. They said they are in disagreement with commission policy.

The resignations were submitted by J. Fendall Coughlan of Silver Spring and Charles E. Bowen of Wheaton. Both are lawyers.

Both said they oppose a proposed county ordinance to ban discrimination in restaurants and bars. They said the four-man majority on the board appears to favor the proposal.

"I feel that a person in private business should be permitted to exercise the traditional freedom of association," Coughlan said.

"I feel (integration) should be accomplished on a voluntary basis, and certainly much progress has been made along these lines."

Mrs. Ann Brown, commission chairman, said she was surprised and distressed at Bowen's resignation. She said she was not as surprised by Coughlan's action because, she said, he had been absent from many commission meetings because of personal business.

"I feel that a person in private business should be permitted to exercise the traditional freedom of association," Coughlan said.

"I feel (integration) should be accomplished on a voluntary basis, and certainly much progress has been made along these lines."

Mrs. Ann Brown, commission chairman, said she was surprised and distressed at Bowen's resignation. She said she was not as surprised by Coughlan's action because, she said, he had been absent from many commission meetings because of personal business.

Both said they oppose a proposed county ordinance to ban discrimination in restaurants and bars. They said the four-man majority on the board appears to favor the proposal.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Sweet Is The Scent For Summer

say the Powers Models. And much too convenient to skip—even for hurry-up shower addicts. A spray of this sort should certainly find its way into the beach bag of a swimmer or sunbather.

Now it's time to gently scent all that touches your skin. Drop a dollop or two of scent in the rinse water when you wash your hair. Do the same when you rinse your personal laundry.

Sprinkle powdered sachet in unexpected places — inside your stockings and shoes, inside your gloves, over the ironing board before you press your hankies, lingerie, nightwear and bed linen.

Summer will never parch and wilt you unaware, if you prepare now, as the models suggest, to surround yourself with the delicate aura of daintiness.

But it's an elusive spell never an overpowering hypnotic trance. Here are some ways in which you can achieve the same fragrant effect.

Lave yourself with lanolin-enriched body lotion immediately after your bath or shower. This is a sweet-smelling soother for skin that's dried, chafed and burned, and it provides excellent body protection against further exposure to sun, salt-water and steaming temperatures that provoke excessive perspiration. (This is also an excellent medium for massage, to cool and relax sore muscles after a lot of exercise and to relieve discomfort for the bed-ridden.)

There are after-bath lanolized mists available now that make this skin-softening grooming aid

Churches Say Defiance Of Racial Segregation Laws Justified By Tradition

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

American churches, in many cases, are advocating a course that often leads to prison. It may seem a peculiar position for them to take, but it is not a new one.

Long before Mohandas K. Gandhi used his passive resistance movement against the British, the device was rooted in Christian tradition and history, although Christianity ordinarily teaches civil obedience.

At present, however, a succession of major church bodies have lined up behind defiance of racial segregation laws in the South.

Much of the organizational impetus for the law-breaking also has come from Christian youth groups. The National Christian Student Federation says more than 3,000 students have gone to jail as a result, for varying periods.

They've staged their challenge over the last year and a half by various methods.

The movement began on Feb.

1, 1960, with a "sit-in" at a Greensboro, N.C., variety store, and as it expanded, one national church body after another voiced encouragement.

The Methodist Church, the American Baptist Convention, the National Roman Catholic Conference for Inter-Racial Justice, the National Council of Churches, an Episcopal Church Headquarters Commission, the United Church of Christ Social-Action Council, are among them.

Just last week, in the midst of the arrests of "Freedom Riders," the United Presbyterian General Assembly declared it "commends and encourages" the nonviolent efforts "to bring about equality for all."

Some Southern church leaders have protested the actions of their denominations, but other Southern churchmen have approved.

How do the churches justify supporting disobedience to state laws?

Generally, Christianity has insisted on obedience to government laws, in line with St. Paul's admonition that duly constituted authority is "ordained of God," and that people should be subject to their rulers.

Jesus also said: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

But there is another aspect. Jesus forewarned his followers that they would be arrested, imprisoned and punished by civil authorities, and he said: "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake."

He himself defied certain Sabbath laws, and also flouted the custom of segregation from Samaritans. His crucifixion was a form of punishment the Romans reserved for slaves and insurrectionists. His apostles later were repeatedly jailed for spurning government edicts to keep silent.

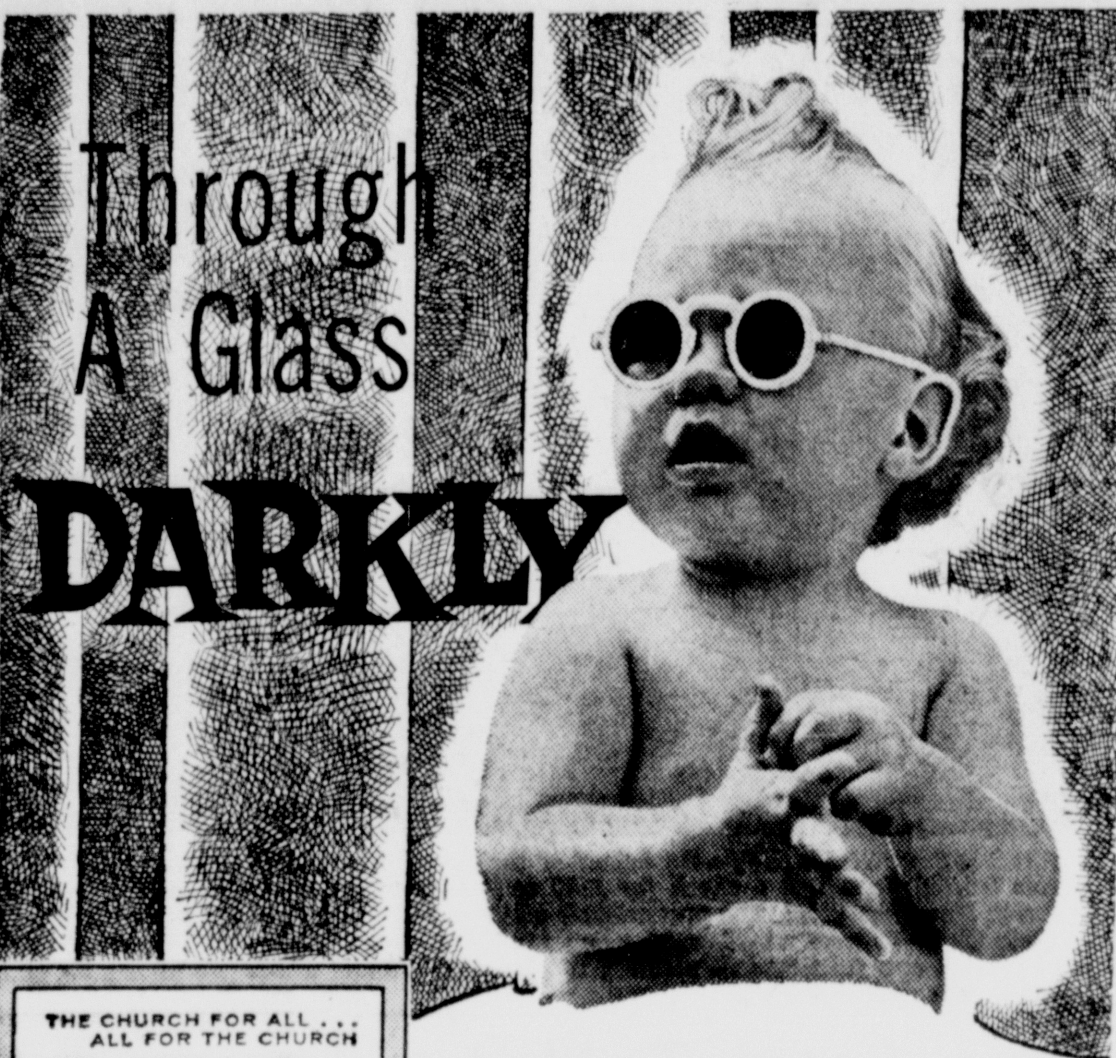

"We ought to obey God rather than men," they said.

Many sainted scholars taught that laws contrary to divine law ought not be heeded.

However, Christianity insists that such disobedience must be based only on a "higher principle than the law represents." Numerous church bodies have concluded that this is the case with various racial restrictions.

They point out that some pro-segregation organizations have advocated similar defiance of federal integration laws. The church groups also note that the disobedience movement is not hidden or clandestine, such as the defiance of past prohibition laws, but is open and aboveboard, and the participants realize they must take the consequences.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	1 Corinthians	13	9-13
Monday	James	1	22-27
Tuesday	Matthew	23	13-22
Wednesday	Epiphany	6	1-4
Thursday	Psalm	118	1-20
Friday	Luke	1	7-10
Saturday	Philippians	3	12-16

She's frightened. She's seeing the world for the first time through dark glasses.

It's no wonder you and I are frightened. Ever since we were old enough to reason, we have been seeing the world through dark glasses. It's just as Paul said:

"Now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face."

We spend our years wondering why things happen as they do... why hatred flourishes and love withers... why sorrow seems inevitable and joy so rare. Apparently, we were not meant to understand... not here!

Some truths God has revealed to us; these our Churches teach. Other truths God will not reveal until another day; to prepare us for that day our Churches strive.

Until at length we gain that complete vision, we are happiest and strongest when we live faithfully in the truth already revealed. Even with dark glasses a man can see as long as he walks toward the Light.

Police Start New Shift Schedule Monday

Changes affecting the shift assignments of the Cumberland Police Department will take place Monday, according to Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming.

The changes, he pointed out, will be the first since the three-platoon system went into effect 25 years ago.

Beginning Monday, the daylight shift will be operated from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m., the No. 3 platoon from 3 to 11 p. m., and the No. 1 platoon from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m.

The respective shifts for the past 25 years have worked from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., 5 p. m. to 1 a. m., and 1 to 9 a. m.

Chief of Police B. F. Gaffney said roll call for each shift will be 10 minutes prior to the starting time, so as to permit time for the placing of men. Officers assigned to the outer sections of town will be transported to their posts, with the men they relieve being driven back to headquarters.

The changes in shifts will not affect the Detective Bureau, Chief Gaffney said, and the painter will work with the daylight shift, and the respective janitors on the new times.

In order to permit a smooth transfer of operation, the sergeants for the respective platoons will work separate hours, the chief stated.

Sgt. John Newhouse of the No. 2 platoon will work from 6 a. m. to 2 p. m.; Sgt. C. C. Roby and Sgt. Robert L. Gilpin will report at 2 p. m. and work until 10 p. m., and Sgt. E. Gordon Hite will be on duty from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m.

The respective supervisors will be Assistant Chief John Sherry, for the daylight platoon, Lt. Donald Smith for the No. 3 platoon, and Lt. W. Elmer Shank, the No. 1 platoon.

In connection with the shift changes, Commissioner Fleming said Police Court will be held at 2 p. m., Monday through Friday. There will be no court on Saturday unless specified in individual cases, the commissioner said.

Scouts Plan Program Sunday

The Scout organizations' sponsored by the SS. Peter and Paul School Parent-Teacher Association will have a program Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Mt. Calvary Picnic Grounds, Mason Road.

The program will be coordinated by William Harrison and Joseph Levens. Refreshments will be made available.

Wood charcoal is about two-thirds the bulk of the wood from which it is made.

Ridgeley Election Tuesday

Ridgeley will conduct its general election on Tuesday, with registered voters scheduled to name a mayor, five councilmen and a recorder.

Nominated at the May primary were Charles H. Fryer, incumbent, and William F. Andrews, for mayor; Clara M. Spencer and Melvin E. Dawson, recorder.

Four members of the present council are running for re-election. They are Alston (Ted) Dayton, Thomas P. Cowan, Keith W. Skidmore and Arthur Maier. Also nominated were Robert J. Spangler, William W. Barr, Charles E. Blackburn, Robert S.

Two School Building Jobs Approved

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools yesterday received approval from the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to proceed with plans to obtain $300,000 from the state loan fund to construct additions to two elementary schools.

Webster met with the board today on several matters. The county is eligible for $750,000 from the state loan fund, Webster told the commissioners, and he stated he would like to get started on two projects, six new classrooms at Parkside School in LaVale and an addition to Gephart School on Frederick Street.

Webster explained that these two projects are needed due to overcrowding and there are no details such as land purchases or other matters which pose any problems. The state loan fund provides for the county to borrow the money on a 15-year basis. The first two years only interest is paid and the loan is amortized during the 13-year period remaining.

Both Commissioner John J. Rowan and William A. Wilson said they were in agreement with the program as outlined by Webster. They said that Webster and the Board of Education are qualified to determine what should be done and they were acting on the basis that the county commissioners should let the educators handle the matter.

Commissioner John T. Mason said he was not against the building program for new schools and additions but felt that something should be done about Carver School on Frederick Street.

Webster also asked the commissioners for a clear understanding concerning the teacher salary scale which the Board of Education has set with the money being derived from state funds which will come from the increase in the sales tax.

Placed in Minutes

Commissioners Rowan and Wilson said they were fully in agreement with letting the Board of Education and Webster handle the teacher salary proposal and this was placed in the minutes of yesterday's meeting. Commissioner Mason said he was not in agreement with the salary scale method and believes that more money should be allotted to the older teachers.

Webster said the new scale, $300 across the board, was decided upon as a means of attracting new teachers with a reasonable starting salary. He agreed with Mason that the older teachers should get more money and that is the next matter which ought to be considered for the county school teachers who are at the top of the bracket.

It was also announced by Webster that the action of the county commissioners in eliminating funds from the budget for the next fiscal year which would have been used to provide some bus service to parochial school children will be explained to those concerned. Webster said he will soon notify each area where parochial school children have been given service that it will not be continued next September.

Pilot Mail Plan Starts

A pilot program making Cumberland Post Office a sectional center for the pickup and delivery of mail started last night with the first run of a new star route.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr. announced that a conference was held at the local post office by postmasters and other employees at the more than 20 post offices to be included in the Cumberland sectional center.

Here to explain the program was W. H. Geddes and Bentley Appleson, field service officers of the regional office of the Post Office Department.

They informed the postal workers that at the first only the Cumberland Post Office is affected by it.

A new star route left here on its first trip Thursday with Warrenton, Va., as its destination, going by way of Winchester.

The 116-mile journey in a light panel truck calls for the handling of only preferential or first class mail.

Rocket Group Hears Talk On Polaris

An outline of the use of the Polaris missile in the nation's defense plan featured the initial meeting of the Allegany County Section of the American Rocket Society Thursday night at the Cumberland Country Club.

The speaker was Capt. W. J. Maddocks, Washington, assistant director of the Special Projects Section, Department of the Navy.

Introduced by A. M. Jacobs, president of the county unit, Capt. Maddocks pointed out that three-fourths of the earth's surface is water, and that the fleet ballistic missile submarines (those that carry the Polaris) are considered one of the greatest deterrent forces against enemy aggression.

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory is associated with the Polaris program, the local facility having designed and developed the second stage of the advanced model now being flight tested.

Capt. Maddocks pointed out that the time from the inception of the Polaris defense system idea to fleet deployment was only four years. The 1,200-mile missile now in use can reach about 90 per cent of its potential targets.

A more advanced Polaris with greater range is being flight tested, he said.

Another factor to be considered, Capt. Maddocks pointed out, is that the Polaris submarines will tend to draw enemy fire away from the continental United States, and out to sea where little harm would be done by nuclear explosions.

The Polaris, the speaker stressed, is a major factor in keeping peace between the major nations of the world.

Capt. Maddocks also outlined living and operating conditions aboard nuclear submarines, and future plans for such devices. He cited the close cooperation between industrial and government facilities that resulted in the success of the Polaris program, and showed a film of the various stages of its development.

Approximately 100 members and guests attended the initial meeting, at which D. H. Little, plant manager of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, introduced a number of officials from Hercules Powder Company affiliates.

Storm Causes Damage To Power, Phones

High winds and rain buffeted this section during the night with the storm being the worst in southeastern Cumberland and the area South of here.

The District 6 headquarters of the State Roads Commission received advanced warning Thursday of an approaching storm that would hit between 8 p. m. and midnight.

The SRC was prepared but there was little or no damage along state highways. But the utilities were not spared as trees and branches fell on wires.

The Potomac Edison Company reported power interruptions along Route 28 in West Virginia south of here together with scattered reports from Wellersburg, Ridgeley, Irons Mountain and Bedford County. All service was restored.

The C&P Telephone Company had about 90 phones out of order, mostly in Cumberland, according to Joseph Mace, plant wire chief here.

The trouble was caused in the phone system from lightning and also trees and branches blowing over wires. All service was restored.

The City Street Department said two trees were blown down in the city, one at the corner of Brookfield and Kent avenues.

Numerous trees and branches were blown down in this area as the near gale-force winds struck around midnight. The County Roads Department said one tree was down on the Johnson Road east of here.

About one-quarter of an inch of rainfall was recorded in the Cumberland area during the storm.

In the Keyser section, a number of phone lines were down.

William A. Wilson Resigns Commissioner Post

William A. Wilson formally submitted his resignation yesterday as a member of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to accept an appointment as a judge of the Maryland Tax Court.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, told Wilson that he thought the resignation had to be made to the governor. A check with the secretary of state by telephone bore out Clark's statement.

When the letter of resignation was read by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board, Commissioner John J. Rowan commented that "it has been a privilege and honor to serve with Commissioner Wilson for the past few years" and he hoped that he would have success in his new position.

Commissioner John T. Mason injected a humorous note by stating "it has been interesting if not always pleasant to have served with Commissioner Wilson." The two men have had some disagreements on some matters but in general have worked harmoniously.

Clark was quite lengthy in his praise of Commissioner Wilson. "In the future when citizens of Allegany County look back on the administration of the present board they will find that it has been the best in many years. There have been various steps taken to advance the county such as plans for meeting the sewage and water problem, more efficient operation of the County Infirmary, County Home and Sylvan Retreat and also the organization of a county library system, Allegany County is losing an excellent public servant and the state is gaining one through Commissioner Wilson's appointment to the Tax Court."

Civil Defense Unit Seeks Storage Space

William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for the county, informed the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday that storage space is needed for a $20,000 emergency hospital kit which is assigned to this county.

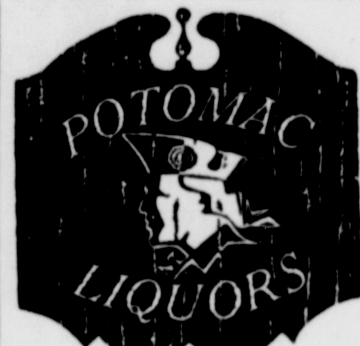

He inquired if the Carver School property could be used for this purpose. If storage is not obtained soon the county may lose the hospital equipment, Barger said. The matter was referred to the Board of Education.

Let's Eliminate Aid Confusion

A mental reservation the observant citizen may have, when new federal programs are proposed, is that the government had better consolidate and try to get existing programs operating more efficiently.

This was pointed up the other day when Harry R. Turkel, a man with 32 years of experience in Inter-American affairs, resigned in exasperation over the way things are going. He long has been an advocate of the Latin American policy about to be put into effect.

But he charged the responsibility between the White House staff and State Department officials is so diffuse that there is a useless threshing about.

This is confirmed by Latin diplomats who complain that they are getting the run-around and don't get any satisfaction. Three separate White House officials and several State Department functionaries deal with Latin policy, with apparently no firm decisions to be found anywhere.

Congress is allocating in excess of half a billion dollars to the Latin program. The existing machinery of the federal government certainly needs upgrading for effective operation far more than it needs added programs to set up more disorganized bureaus.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Dollar

Congressman Abraham Multer has written to me about his bill to withdraw the present twenty-five per cent gold coverage of the dollar. Modestly he says:

"I am prepared to concede that we may be wrong. I will not concede, however, that all of the people who approve the principle proposed by H.R. 6900, are anything but good Americans, who have the interest of their country at heart. This goes for the President's Task Force on the Economic Situation and Balance of Payments, headed by Allan Sproul, former president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York; the vast majority of the members of the Committee for Economic Development's Research and Policy Committee, headed by T. V. Houser, former chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Company; John J. McCloy, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank; Henry C. Alexander, chairman of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company; Roy L. Reiersen, senior vice president and chief economist of the Bankers Trust Company; and many other respected businessmen . . ."

The question is not whether these men are good Americans. It would be a task to define a good American and then to fine-comb careers and reputations to decide whether these gentlemen belong to the noble category of good Americans or whether they are motivated by self-interest or whether they are pursuing an economic dogma which accepts fiat money. Also men may have "the interest of their country at heart" and be utterly confused and damaging.

Therefore, I for one, must ignore the list of names which Congressman Multer presents as an ad hominem argument. However, the Congressman does raise a question in his letter which deserves serious consideration. He says:

" . . . your Federal Reserve note (most of our currency) is guaranteed not only by the surplus and assets of our Federal Reserve Banks (they are all owned by the United States Government) but, in addition, are backed by every dollar of assets of the United States Government. Those assets are many times more than enough to meet all the obligations of the Federal Reserve Banks. The twenty-five per cent gold reserve is not needed to make up any possible deficit."

This raises the question of what are the assets of the United States. Our budget does not include them. Our Treasury's annual reports do not include the assets. Our federal bookkeeping system is based on the simplest method of accountancy, namely income and outgo, much like a housewife handling a check-book. No business could survive such accounting methods.

The assets of the United States Government are enormous and could if properly audited and accounted for, provide ample coverage for the American dollar. This government owns, for example, an enormous quantity of real estate, some of it of great value. No accounts are kept of these assets. They are rather dealt with only on the basis of erection and maintenance expenditures. The United States Government owns more than half a hundred corporations, some of which could, by proper accounting, be established as profitable. They are either assets or liabilities. These corporations are enormous properties, as for instance, TVA. They are carried on the books as decisions of Congress rather than as assets or liabilities.

If Congressman Multer means that the American dollar should be protected by the assets of the United States Government, then he has to arrange that our federal bookkeeping system be revised. That would be an extremely constructive measure. It would represent a step forward in government financing. It might prove embarrassing to some officials who dislike auditing as the devil hates holy water, but it might even encourage the sale of some government assets, the funds to be used to reduce the national debt.

I fear that the legislator is emotional about the virtue of the dollar. He says:

" . . . I for one, as an American, do not require my government to back up its guarantee with a gold reserve."

This paragraph does not deal with the economics of the dollar. It is Multer's response to the perfection of the American government which, while laudable, is ultra vires. The United States has defaulted on its obligation in the gold content of the dollar. The case went to the Supreme Court as Congressman Multer well knows.

There can be no sentiment about money. It is accepted because of confidence or coercion. It is rejected out of fear. It is not something to be loved for its own sake.

'Notice I've Been Practicin' My Fast Draw?'

JFK Reversal On Summit Needs Explanation

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Has President Kennedy gone back on his word —the promise he gave to the more than 60,000,000 people who watched the "great debates" on television last autumn? He has made no explanation to the American people for reversing the pledge of last autumn when he said flatly he would not meet with Nikita Khrushchev unless some agreement on important subjects had been reached beforehand through diplomatic channels. If there is such an agreement now, no word about it has been given to the people of the United States.

Here is what Mr. Kennedy said in the second debate of the series with Vice President Nixon on October 7, 1960:

"On the question of the 'summit', I agree with the position of Mr. Nixon. I would not meet Mr. Khrushchev unless there were some agreements at the secondary level—foreign ministers or ambassadors—which would indicate that the meeting would have some hope of success, or useful exchange of ideas."

Then, in the fourth debate on October 21, 1960, Mr. Kennedy said:

"Well, I think the President of the United States last winter indicated that before he'd go to the 'summit' in May, there should be some agenda, that there should be some prior agreement. He hoped that there would be an agreement in part on disarmament. He also expressed the hope that there should be some understanding of the general situation in Berlin."

"The Soviet Union refused to agree to that, and we went to the 'summit' and it was disastrous."

"I believe we should not go to the 'summit' until there is some reason to believe that a meeting of minds can be obtained on either Berlin, outer space, or general disarmament — including nuclear testing."

Has Mr. Kennedy made some secret deal with Premier Khrushchev? No intimation of it has been given to members of Congress, especially in any conferences with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's ranking members. There have been rumors around

Washington, however, that the Communist Premier is planning to make some concession in connection with the nuclear-test negotiations in exchange for a continuance of the present moratorium on tests. One report is that he will offer to give up the veto system which Russia has insisted upon heretofore and agree to negotiate a treaty that will permit a limited form of inspection without vetoes.

Certainly any vital change in the hitherto stagnant situation over the nuclear-test ban would be hailed as a big victory for Mr. Kennedy, and it would be inferred that some arrangement of this kind had been worked out in advance. Actually, withdrawal of the veto provision would not mean an immediate agreement on any of the other points raised in the Geneva negotiations on the nuclear-test band. The prospect is

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NO AMBITION — Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, Ohio Democrat, has represented his district in Congress for 25 years. Recently, he's been receiving hints that he should run for governor in 1962 or for the Senate in 1964. But he's all against it.

"No sirree, not me," says Kirwan. "Two Congressmen who previously represented my district went on to higher offices—James A. Garfield and William McKinley!"

What Kirwan did not add was that both became Presidents, and both were assassinated in office.

PARADE — The federal government has an effective way of turning out good crowds to witness the arrival of visiting dignitaries from other lands. It simply brings the dignity into Washington along a well-worn parade route at about noon on a business day and gives the government employees extra time to see the sight but always insists they return to work before the day ends.

This way, on a nice day, the government workers have little else they can do with their time off, and therefore stand along the parade route for lack of any other way to use up their free time.

When President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia came to town recently, however, the turnout was somewhat short of what it should have been. One large federal agency didn't receive its official notice of the partial work holiday until two days after the event. You guessed it — it was the Central Intelligence Agency.

LETTERS — Speaking of letters to Washington, the White House has revealed that President John F. Kennedy is receiving about 30,000 letters a week, approximately twice the volume of his predecessor.

This may reflect increased business for the Post Office Department, but Postmaster General J. Edward Day isn't altogether happy about it.

Assuming that most of the letter writers are Kennedy fans, Day suggests that these admirers might help the President more if they addressed their remarks to their own Congressman and Senators.

In truth, there is little that Kennedy can do that he has not already done to further his program. It's up to Congress, and Day is right, because it is a well-known fact of political life that nothing so impresses a Congressman like a flood of letters from his own district, particularly if a heavy majority leans in one direction and is obviously genuine.

Thurman Arnold, Trust-Buster, Put Sherman Act On Statute Books

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note — The Brass Ring, good-for-one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round today goes to Judge Thurmond Arnold, the nation's No. 1 trust-buster.)

WASHINGTON — Thurman Arnold, the trust-buster, has been posing for a bronze bust during recent weeks and he has not been happy about it. Sitting in an office beclouded with smoke and littered with pipe tobacco, the former assistant attorney general and appeals court judge was an unwilling subject for sculptress Dorothy Michelson.

Finally, however, Judge Arnold perked up. His bust, he learned, was to be placed not alongside that of Assistant Attorney General "Wild Bill" Donovan, who did little about enforcing the antitrust act, but in the Yale University law school where the judge once taught.

After that, he straightened his bow tie, combed his hair, and brushed at least some of the tobacco crumbs from his shirt front.

Judge Arnold, who celebrates his 70th birthday this week, is famous for two achievements: being the most untidy man in Washington and putting the Sherman Antitrust Act back on the statute books. He has ruined more tablecloths for Washington hostesses, with spilled tobacco, and more combines of big business with antitrust prosecutions than any other man in the USA.

What Makes Him Tick

"I married him one week before he sailed in 1917," says the lady who has put up with him for 44 years. "I was supposed to marry his law partner, Raymond Waite, and had no idea of marrying Thurman. But I did."

"Thurman always said I bet on that $10,000 war risk insurance he signed up for — and that I lost."

"Anyway," says Frances Arnold, who is one of the secrets of what makes Thurman tick, "after the war we went out to Wyoming and staked out a homestead 30 miles from Laramie. Thurman drove 30 miles to practice law every day and I raised a family. Sometimes the snow was pretty bad, and once when little Thurman was six weeks old I was isolated for 10 days."

"However, we're proud of the fact that our sons are now fourth-generation Wyoming. When Thurman's grandfather went out, there was almost nobody in Wyoming who didn't wear a blanket."

Arnold was elected mayor of Laramie, taught in the University of Wyoming, West Virginia University, the Yale Law School, then came to Washington under Roosevelt as assistant attorney general, where he decided that if capitalism was going to work it had to live up to its basic principle —

Unused Weapon

He dusted off the unused weapon of the Sherman Antitrust Act — criminal prosecution — and proceeded to use it. This was the forerunner of the jail sentences given the big electrical companies this year.

Some of the giants of American industry were hauled into court by the onetime shy student from Princeton. He got a criminal conviction of the huge Standard Oil Co. of N. J., for conspiring with the Nazi cartels to shut off synthetic rubber and gasoline from the United States. He forced the railroads and the Pullman Company to divorce. He made the giant motion picture production companies divest themselves of their theatres.

He also took on the big three of the auto industry — General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler — to make them divorce their finance companies from their production companies. And he sued the largest chain store, the A and P, the biggest tobacco company, American Tobacco; both General Electric and Westinghouse for conspiring in the production and sale of lamps.

One of his most famous cases — which he lost — was against William Hutcheson and the Carpenters Union which Arnold charged with refusing to work on certain buildings when outside materials were shipped into St. Louis.

After Justice Felix Frankfurter led the Supreme Court in ruling against Arnold on this, he remarked to a staff conference: "The only difference between Felix Frankfurter and Justice Vandevanter (an arch-conservative) is that Vandevanter wears his beard on the outside."

It was also Thurman Arnold who took on the Associated Press. In doing so, he sided with the late Cissy Patterson, publisher of the Washington Times Herald, against her potent cousin, Colonel McCormick of the Chicago Tribune, and forced the AP to serve the Times Herald as well as Marshall Field's Sun in Chicago.

But Thurman's trust-busting became too vigorous even for FDR. When Thurman moved against the Western railroad executives, of which Averell Harriman of the Union Pacific was a member, Roosevelt complained: "We can't have our Ambassador to Russia indicted." and when Thurman predicted a case against Pan American Airways, Roosevelt stopped the suit cold.

"I'm not going to resign," Thurman told his staff on this occasion, "they might accept it."

A few days later, Thurman dined at my home. His place card read: "Judge" Arnold. He didn't know it, but I knew that he was to be elevated to the U. S. Court of Appeals. He was too tough even for Franklin Roosevelt.

That ended the greatest trust-busting era since Theodore Roosevelt.

Quiet Please

By John Crosby

I was sitting next to a chap over cigars and liquors not so long ago who was bawling, as fashionable these days, the Central Intelligence Agency. "The trouble is," this chap was saying, "the American Ambassador is usually the last to find out what's going on. When the CIA overthrew Mendares in Turkey, the Embassy actually sent a warning around that morning to Mendares that something was afoot — not having the foggiest that the CIA had planned the whole thing."

Mendares? The CIA? All this time I thought it was students who overthrew Mendares in Turkey. But then I'm hopelessly innocent in these matters although, I'm not especially comforted to learn, no more innocent than the Ambassador.

"The New Statesman" takes the CIA vigorously to task for mixing subversion with espionage. "The Central Intelligence Agency not only gathers intelligence but employs 20,000 operatives overseas. It claims a number of shady successes: the overthrow of Mossadegh in Persia and Arbenz in Guatemala; more recently the disposal of Patrice Lumumba."

Good heavens! Lumumba, too! The CIA does get around, doesn't it? The CIA, in fact, is getting the blame for just about everything short of stirring up all that trouble over the folk singers in Washington Square. Just possibly they were to blame for that, too.

We are very new at espionage, having largely relied for 100 years on the British in these matters. Now we are in espionage up to our necks and we have made some mistakes, of which by far the biggest is Cuba. But it does seem to me that we are edging towards an even larger error in treating the CIA as if it were a district attorney who had failed to convict.

American intelligence can't parade its successes and shouldn't be judged only on its failures. We occasionally get hints of dazzling intelligence coups. It is whispered we even hear the countdown on Russian rockets. But it does seem to me that the very first rule of espionage is that it be secret, and in this regard we are failing lamentably.

Massive errors of judgment and information have been made by other intelligence services. In fact, by all of them. Gargantuan errors were made even by that old pro, Stalin, based on gigantic errors of information. George Kennan writes of one of the largest of Stalin's errors, in his misjudgment of Chiang Kai-Shek in his book "Russia and the West," which makes our own errors in Cuba seem trifling.

But no one, I think, has ever acknowledged error quite so sweepingly as we do and this is a way of making it much worse. There is nothing in the annals of espionage quite like President Eisenhower's taking personal responsibility for the U-2 and trying to explain why we thought it necessary. The first rule of espionage is not to admit it.

Now comes Cuba where personal responsibility, for heaven's sake, has even been pinned on an individual, Richard Bissell Jr. Meanwhile, other individuals have explained to anyone who will listen just how they stood on the lamentable invasion of Cuba in conferences which should be forever secret. Never has an intelligence operation been so widely reported in all phases — before, during, and after.

President Kennedy has asked the press in one of his most misguided moments to muzzle itself on matters pertaining to the national interest. It would have been much more sensible to tell his own operatives to shut up. All of them talk too much, including Allen Dulles. CIA operatives, both past and current ones, will tell you all about what they did last week, while remaining reasonably discreet about what they're doing this morning. Past intelligence operations should be as secret as current ones, since they are a dead giveaway about what the bureau is looking for as well as their methods of looking.

There are those who will tell you that Allen Dulles, the gentle devout Methodist, is just temperamentally unsuited for a job as ruthless as espionage. There are stories of intelligence operations that he's vetoed because they involved someone's getting hurt. We're going to have to learn to fish or cut bait. Above all, our intelligence operatives have got to learn to keep their traps shut. They're not, after all, running for office.

Keep Your Temper When Tot Has A Tantrum

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A temper tantrum in a tot makes an adult feel helpless. The best advice is to keep your own temper and realize that the child has lost control of himself and cannot be reasoned with at the moment. Make known to him in some way that he is still loved but don't let him gain anything through his kicking, screaming, and throwing himself all over the place.

We received several letters suggesting ways to handle the problem. One said, "My grandmother cured me once and for all by throwing a dipper of ice water over me when I was holding my breath and pounding the floor."

F. C. wrote: "My brother-in-law had a son who went into temper tantrums frequently. The father solved the problem by holding the boy's head under the water faucet for a few seconds. You may use this for what it is worth." We never get letters telling us of the failures from this type of treatment.

In my opinion, the "don't care" treatment has merit, as many youngsters get over the tantrum in a hurry when they are ignored. This remedy backfires occasionally in that the child is frightened or goes into a more violent rage. Some tykes need to be coddled whereas others must be restrained for a few moments to prevent injury. What helps one may not help another and the mother should play each tantrum by ear.

The child who holds his breath when angry may become unconscious. When this occurs, voluntary control of breathing is lost, the youngster begins to breathe, and consciousness returns.

I made the statement recently that I have never known a child to die in this way. A Chicagoan sent me a clip from a Florida paper in which a fatality was reported in a 1 year old boy who held his breath. This case may be the exception to the rule but not all cases of breath holding are temper tantrums. Some of these children have epilepsy and the parents mistake the convulsion for a tantrum.

PSC Awards Degrees To 104 Students

Education Termed Key To Better Life

KEYSER—Education as a necessary element for a better society was stressed to the 1961 graduating class of Potomac State College yesterday morning by Dr. William K. Selden, executive secretary of the National Commission on Accrediting, Washington.

Some 104 students were awarded associate in arts degrees during the 58th annual commencement in the college gymnasium.

Dr. Selden commented on the changes in educational customs over the centuries and said educational problems are not limited to the United States. Mankind everywhere, he said, is seeking more space, more money, and more teachers.

He said Americans must accept their moral and social obligations in order to succeed.

The important question, he said, is "can we revise our educational system with the determination, imagination, and speed required in the second half of the 20th Century?"

He spoke at length on the educational system in Soviet Russia and explained that society is undergoing a greater revolution than in any era since the world began. "Our progress in education," he said, "rests on whether or not we can view our institutions, our organizations, our personal interests from the perspective of what is best for human welfare and society."

Head usher for the graduates was Gerald Pifer, Keyser, president of the Student Body. Music was presented by the PSC band and the Singers. Rev. Millard Floyd, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, offered the invocation.

Diplomas were awarded by President E. E. Church, assisted by Dean K. S. McKee and Miss Helen O. Eriner, assistant registrar.

Tunney Says Johansson Fought Despite Brain Trauma

Gene Alleges Ingo Sick For 3d Title Bout

Charges Monopoly Wouldn't Allow An Examination

By LOUIS G. PANOS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey called Friday for strong federal medicine to cure boxing's ills — ills which Tunney said include allowing a badly injured man to fight for the heavyweight title.

Gene Tunney

The aging ring heroes appeared before a Senate subcommittee to prescribe for the profession which made them rich and famous as heavyweight champions in the gaudy 1920s. They agreed boxing now has sunk so far federal supervision is imperative to save it from destruction by criminal elements and unwise television policies.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee is considering a bill to place professional boxing under a federal commissioner with sweeping powers.

Ingo "Sick Man" Tunney, 64, but with hardly a trace of gray in his thick brown hair, declared Swedish heavyweight Ingemar Johansson "was a sick man" in his third title fight with Floyd Patterson.

He said Johansson went into the bout with "a very serious brain trauma" suffered when Patterson knocked him out in their second fight.

Now a wealthy corporation executive, Tunney made the statements to emphasize his belief that boxing is being strangled by monopoly as well as by criminal elements.

In his testimony before the subcommittee, the strapping former champion said an electroencephalogram would have shown Johansson was physically unfit for his fight with Patterson last March.

But "the monopoly wouldn't allow" such an examination, Tunney declared. He did not identify "the monopoly."

Fleischer Disagrees

A later witness, Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine, said Johansson was given an electroencephalogram test and was pronounced fit. Fleischer said these findings were corroborated by three physicians retained by the Florida Athletic Commission.

Johansson lost the Miami Beach fight on a technical knockout when the referee halted the bout to prevent further punishment of the challenger.

In New York, Al Bolan, general manager of Feature Sports, Inc., which promoted the fight, said: "Johansson was given a complete physical examination by the Miami commission. There were no exceptions made."

At Miami Beach, the City Boxing Commission physician, Dr. Alexander Robbins, said he wanted a prefight electroencephalogram of Johansson but Bolan told him such a test had been made.

No Results Of Test

The doctor added that he never saw any results of the test.

Johansson was reported in Göteborg, Sweden but unavailable for comment immediately.

Dempsey, now 66, said boxing "is just about on its last legs" because of exploitation by promoters and scandalous muscling in by criminal elements.

The old Manassa Mauler, still trim and dark-jawed, was greeted by applause as he took the witness chair.

"Let's have a new fight game," he urged the committee. "There are a lot of people in the fight game who just don't belong there."

Betsy Holds Lead

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Betsy Rawls shot near-par golf Friday to coast past the halfway mark in the Women's Western Open with a 145 for 36 holes.

Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and Marilyn Smith of French Lick, Ind., both pros, tied for second place with 150s.

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Milwaukee Braves general manager John McHale announced Friday night the Braves have purchased the contract of 31-year old relief pitcher Federico Olivo from their Louisville farm club in the American Association.

Brelsford Hurls No-Hit Game, Hyndman Wins 6-0

Kennell's Mill Victim; Ellerslie Beats Greenpoint

COUNTY LEAGUE	W.	L.	Pct.
Ellerslie	5	0	1.000
Hyndman	5	2	.714
Greenpoint Inn	6	3	.667
Melody Manor	4	4	.500
Stringtown	3	5	.375
Kennell's Mill	2	8	.200
Corriganville	2	8	.200

Corriganville pitched a no-hit, no-run game yesterday as Hyndman's Vets handed Kennell's Mill its eighth consecutive setback in the County Softball League. The score was 6-0.

The Vets' righthander, who makes a habit of hurling shutouts, picked up his second this year and his fifth victory in seven decisions as Hyndman moved into second place in the race.

Brelsford, who won 14 shutouts last year including no-hitters against Melody Manor, 5-0, on June 23, and Stringtown, 2-0, on June 28 while pitching for Greenpoint Inn, finished with five strikeouts against Kennell's Mill and allowed only two men to reach base.

The Hyndman ace (30-6 last year) hit one batter with a pitched ball and the other was safe on a throwing error but was tossed out trying to make third on the play.

Hyndman scored in five of the seven innings as Joe Sager led the attack with a home run and a single. Brelsford helped his own cause with a triple and a two-bagger.

In an extra-inning battle at Greenpoint Inn, Ellerslie's Vern Lowery edged Art Raygor in a battle of two-hitters as Ellerslie won 3-1 in eight frames.

The triumph was the eighth in a row for Ellerslie's unbeaten league-leaders and the loss dumped Greenpoint Inn to third in the standings behind Hyndman.

Lowery picked up his eighth straight pitching triumph, whiffing 10 as he bested Raygor in the neat hurling duel.

The teams battled to a 1-1 deadlock through the regulation seven innings before Ellerslie iced the verdict with two runs on a pair of walks off Raygor and a throwing error in the eighth.

Ellerslie scored in the fourth when Ab See was safe on an error and scored on Rich Lybarger's single. Greenpoint knotted the sixth and tallied on a passed ball.

Another tight ball game found Corriganville edging Stringtown, 2-1, on the latter's diamond as John Kendall tossed a four-hitter to beat Paul Stair.

Tojo Emerick paced the Corriganville assault with three hits and made the fielding play of the contest when he caught Schad's

30-Cent Beer Brings Protest

BALTIMORE (AP) — The boys down at the corner tavern are working themselves into a bit of a froth over the price of beer. Changes in Maryland's sales tax, effective June 1, made a 25-cent bottle of beer sold in a bar subject to a one-cent tax for the first time.

Most beer drinkers had no objection to an extra penny on the price of a brew. But some taverns boosted the price all the way to 30 cents.

Bartenders told patrons the 30-cent price was because of the sales tax change. One tavernkeeper elaborated: He said he expected the breweries to increase the wholesale price of beer by 3 1/2 cents next month.

In most bars, the price of mixed drinks went up a nickel at the same time beer did. Where beer only went up a penny, the increase for mixed drinks was one or two cents.

Edward F. Engelbert, chief of the retail sales tax division, said he had heard comment tavern owners might increase the price of beer a nickel.

"I don't see any reason for them to do so," he said. "They're probably trying to avoid collection of odd pennies."

Dickinson Leads

Memphis Open

MEMPHIS (AP) — Gardner Dickinson boomed to a seven-stroke lead in the $30,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament Friday with a 5-under-par 33-65.

Dickinson danced a little jig when his fifth birdie putt went in the cup on 15. He added another on 18 to log a 63-65—128, the lowest 36-hole total on the circuit this year.

Don Whitt, who started this second round just a stroke behind Dickinson, sagged to a 33-38—71 over the 6,423 yard, par 34-36—70 Colonial Country Club course.

That dropped Whitt into a six-man tie at 135.

Tied with Whitt were defending champion Tommy Bolt, Cary Middlecoff, Gene Littler, Ken Venturi and Tony Lema.

Don Bragg, whose pole vault mark was topped by George Davies of Oklahoma State says he, too, will use a fiber glass pole, claiming that the fiber pole added six inches to Davies' jump. Bragg used an aluminum pole when he set the world record.

Cards Win, 3-1

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals grabbed fifth place from the slumping Milwaukee Braves Friday night with a 3-1 victory on Ray Sadecki's four hits and a two-run homer by Ken Boyer.

Wertz's Homer Beats Orioles

Two-Run Belt In 9th Wins For Boston, 4-2

BOSTON (UPI) — Vic Wertz's fourth home run of the season in the ninth inning gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night at Fenway Park.

Wertz's blast into the right field bleachers came with pinch-runner Tom Brewer on base. Brewer was running for Jim Pagliaroni who had drawn a walk to start the Red Sox rally.

Rookie righthander Don Schwall won his third consecutive game since being recalled from Seattle less than three weeks ago. Last Sunday, he blanked Baltimore on seven hits. Friday night he held Baltimore to seven hits again but the Orioles scored single runs in both the first and ninth innings.

Barton made its debut in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League with a 1-0 victory over Westernport in a game played yesterday at Barton.

Rain stopped play at the end of six innings.

Eddie Cuthbertson went the route for Barton and turned in a 5-hit performance. Vernon Miller limited Barton to four hits.

Gerald Miller paced the Westernport hitters with two hits in three trips. One of Barton's four blows was a two-bagger by Richard Todd.

BABST AWARD TO HARRIS — Selden H. "Bucky" Harris, III, was the recipient of the 37th annual Charles E. Babst Award for superiority in athletic leadership at the Allegany High School commencement last night. The gold wrist watch was presented to Harris by Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal. "Bucky" was regular end and linebacker on Coach Ed Schwarz's city championship football teams of 1959 and 1960 and played tackle in his sophomore year. He was a relay man on Allegany track teams. Harris has received a football scholarship from the University of Maryland. The 1960 Babst Award also was presented to Bob Gaffney last night. He won the gold wrist watch in his junior year but was not eligible to receive it until he was graduated.

Price Is Strikeout King, Whiffed 63 In 43 Innings

Fort Hill Ace Posts 6-1 Record; Jim Diehl And Melvin Nines 3-0

John Price, pitching ace of Fort Hill High School's County League champions, was the circuit's winningest pitcher and also the strikeout king for the 1961 campaign.

Completing his third year in the league, the Fort Hill senior right-hander, posted a 6-1 record, toiled on the rubber 43 innings in eight games and fired the third strike past 63 batsmen. His high for a single game was 14.

Price wound up his baseball career at Fort Hill with a 14-1 record, which included six shutouts. He was 5-0 in 1959, 3-0 in 1960. He reeled off 12 consecutive wins over three seasons before suffering his only defeat at the hands of Beall in a 6-5 battle.

John's three-year record against league teams was as follows: Allegheny 6-0, LaSalle 4-0, Bruce 3-0, Valley 1-0 and Beall 0-1.

Jim Diehl of Beall and Melvin Nines of Fort Hill turned in 3-0 records for the campaign.

Ronnie Evans of Allegheny was the busiest pitcher in the league. He hurled more innings than any other twirler — a total of 50 — and was runner-up to Price in strikeouts with 58.

Wayne Johnson, Valley south-paw, set a one-game high on May 17 when he whiffed 16 Bruce batsmen in one game. Evans mowed down 15 Fort Hill batsmen in the final game but lost, 4-2. Price's high for one game was 14.

Carry Back Stays For Triple Crown At Belmont Today

Remains Top Choice Among Nine Entries

Globemaster Joins Foes Of Derby, Preakness Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—Carry Back picked up a speedy playmate named Globemaster Friday, but remained a heavy favorite to win the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes and become the ninth horse to sweep the triple crown series for 3-year-olds.

With the Kentucky Derby and Preakness already locked in the vault, Carry Back is expected to be an odds-on choice at around 4 to 5 in the mile and one-half final jewel of the triple Saturday afternoon at Belmont Park.

However, owners and trainers of six of his eight rivals apparently need more convincing. The six have been chasing Carry Back without success from Kentucky to Maryland and now New York and the Belmont stacks up as one of the best in many years.

Rallies To Win

Carry Back, owned by Mrs. Katherine Price of Miami and trained by her husband, Jack, rallied from 11th place to win the derby May 6 in Louisville. Fifteen started in the Derby. On May 20 in Baltimore he threw another scare into his backers by charging up from next to last in a nine-horse field to grab the Preakness.

The loaded question is: will the popular little ham actor character be able to snatch the brass ring this time?

As expected, Robert Lehman's Ambipose joined the hunt Friday morning when entries closed at $250 per horse. Ambipose ran the 12th, Kentucky, then won the $124,000 Jersey Derby last Tuesday at Garden State Park.

But, the big excitement was generated half an hour before the box closed when trainer Tom Kelly entered Leonard M. Sasso's Globemaster. This horse was the speedy pacemaker in both the 1 1/4 miles of the derby and the 1 3/16 miles of the Preakness.

Toughest Hurdle

The Belmont is the toughest hurdle, and no colt has completed the great triple since Calumet's Citation in 1948. Globemaster ran sixth in the derby and was runner-up in the Preakness.

Others in the 93rd Belmont are King Ranch's Bal Musette, Albert R. Ranches' Flutterby, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Guadalupe, Jacob Sher's Sherluck, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Dr. Miller, and Ogden Phipps' Hitting Away.

All will pack 126 pounds, and a fast track seems assured since the weatherman promises sunny skies.

Post time is 3:50 p.m., EST, with radio and television (CBS) from 3:30-4 p.m. EST.

Gaffney To Go To Pittsburgh

Bob Gaffney, Allegheny High School's stellar three-sports star and honor student, has cast his lot with the University of Pittsburgh where the hard-running halfback hopes to continue to star on the gridiron as he did the past several years for the Campers.

The 6-2 Gaffney, who weighs 190 pounds, accepted a grant-in-aid scholarship to the Pennsylvania university after receiving offers from nearly a score of schools who were interested in him.

Gaffney sparked Coach Ed Schwarz's Alco eleven to two successive city titles and an unbeaten season last year. He also was one of Allegheny's top basketball and track stars. He received the Charles E. Babst award as Allegheny High's outstanding athlete in his junior year.

Young Bob received his diploma at graduation exercises last night.

Chestnut Ridge Retains Title

Chestnut Ridge High School has retained the championship of the Bedford County (Pa.) High School League as a result of a 3-0 victory over Tussey Mountain High School in a playoff game.

The playoff contest was necessary when the teams wound up the regular campaign tied for first place.

Hyndman High school finished its league season with a 5-5 record. The Hornets dropped four games to Chestnut Ridge and Tussey Mountain.

Unbeaten Mt. Storm To Face Loch Lynn

Unbeaten Mt. Storm, setting the pace with a 4-0 record, faces Loch Lynn, occupant of third place with a 4-2 record, in tomorrow's top doubleheader in the Town and Country Softball League of Garrett County.

The games are set for Mt. Storm at 2:30 p.m., EDT.

Other Sunday twin bills on tap bring together McHenry (5-1) and Accident (3-3) at McHenry, Oak-Land (2-4) at Swallow Falls (2-4) and White Rock (1-3) and the National Guard (1-5) at Oakland.

Jockey Undergoes Surgery For Injuries

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Donald Crews, 23-year-old apprentice jockey, underwent surgery Friday for injuries he suffered at Hollywood Park while exercising a horse and was reported in critical condition.

Crews was exercising the filly Shaky Venture for the Rex C. Ellsworth Stable which employs him when she veered into the fence in the stretch, throwing the rider into the railing.

The injured rider was taken to Centinela Hospital which reported he suffered a cerebral concussion, a broken left arm, four fractured vertebrae and broken ribs.

Ike Would Like To See Triple Crown Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Eisenhower, who will attend the Belmont Stakes Saturday, admitted he didn't know much about horse racing when he arrived in New York Friday with Mrs. Eisenhower.

But, he tipped his hand on his choice to win the big race at Belmont Park.

"I would kind of like to see a triple crown winner."

Carry Back won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, and a Belmont victory would make him the ninth winner of the famed triple crown.

The Eisenhowers will be in the winner's circle to make the presentation of the gold Belmont Trophy to the winning owner.

Market Displays Extreme Caution Before Weekend

NEW YORK (AP) — Late improvement among some high quality issues highlighted a stock market which displayed extreme caution Friday over possible weekend developments from the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting. Trading was slow.

While more stocks declined than advanced, all the popular market barometers were higher. This was accounted for by gains of selected blue chips.

Further hesitation was bred by news that legislation had been introduced calling for an investigation of stock exchanges.

The market had a mixed and listless pattern in the morning but went ahead slightly on average in the afternoon. Steels were early leaders in the improvement. Motors, electrical equipments, airlines electronics and mail order-retails strung along.

While changes of most key stocks were fractional, there were some gains of 2 or 3 points.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.33 to 697.70. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 70 to 250.20 with industrials up 2.40, rails off .40 and utilities off .40.

Of 1,289 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by 560 to 502. New highs for the year totaled 67 and new lows 10.

Volume was 3.67 million shares compared with 3.77 million Thursday.

American Stock Exchange prices were mostly higher on volume of 1.69 million shares compared with 1.83 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds took moderate losses in slow trading. U.S. government bonds declined sharply.

Corporate volume on the New York Stock Exchange trailed off to $4.95 million par value from $6.22 million Thursday.

Over 11,000 Take Vaccine

Bigger Turnout Expected Today

More than 11,000 persons swallowed Sabin oral polio vaccine at 17 dispensing centers in the county yesterday as a two-day program of public dosages began.

That means at least 23,000 Allegany countians now have taken the vaccine to acquire immunity to Type I poliovirus, which causes 85 per cent of all paralytic polio. More than 12,000 school children took the vaccine Thursday.

No final figures were available last night — the centers didn't close until 10 p.m. — but reports from 16 of the 17 centers totaled 11,334.

Cumberland's City Hall was busy most of the day, and had fed vaccine to at least 1,500 persons by closing time. Penn Avenue School accounted for 1,200 before 9:30 p.m., and West Side School finished with 1,000. Gephart had 750, Mt. Savage 657.

LaVale Fire Hall had 860 before closing, and Frostburg Fire Hall had about 750. LaSalle High School accounted for 493, Fort Hill 824, Central Elementary in Lonaconing about 500, John Humbird School 575, and Flintstone Fire Hall about 250.

Cresaptown School had 720, Westernport Elementary School 322, Parkside 660, and Beall Elementary School 322.

Evening Turnouts Good

Most of the centers reported that the sudden thunderstorm shortly before 8 p.m. caused only a slight break in the lines. After that, they started coming in again.

Doctors of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society, who are running the community-wide test immunization program, were pleased with the results, even though they had hoped for a somewhat better turnout.

They're counting on better results today, particularly if the weather is fairly good, as it's expected to be.

In general, dispensing centers checked yesterday were running smoothly and with remarkable efficiency. There were some delays in getting started at some locations, but once the lines formed they didn't get a chance to back up at any center.

The small turnout at some centers, mostly in sparsely populated areas, disappointed doctors and their helpers. Said one physician in charge of a center: "Our only problem has been in getting enough people." But all expected that today's results would prove a little better.

Also recipients of awards were Betty Ann McNabb, Future Nurses Club award; Ralph Krause, attendance award; Stephen Kornblatt, $25 Camper Club bond for second highest four-year scholastic average.

Two Babst Awards

Two Charles E. Babst wrist watches were presented for superiority in athletic leadership. Seiden H. Harris III received the one for 1961 and Robert Gaffney was presented the one he won in 1960 as a junior.

Before distributing diplomas to the 297 Allegany seniors, T. Donald Shires, a member of the Allegany County Board of Education, had a brief comment to the graduates, their parents and friends.

He took the opportunity to express appreciation for the good cooperation between the Board of Education and the Board of County Commissioners. He stressed that earlier in the day, the county commissioners had authorized the school board to go ahead with the first of several planned school building projects.

The board member also reminded his audience that the citizens of Allegany County had invested a total of $1,114,200 in the education of the class of nearly 300 graduates.

Phillip Geary, a native of Pennsylvania and an airline executive, delivered the principal address last night. Stephen B. Kornblatt delivered the class oration on the subject "Time Is Now."

Music was provided by the orchestra, choral and glee clubs. Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, gave the invocation and benediction.

LaVale Group Seeks Members

A membership drive being conducted by the LaVale Civic Improvement Association will continue through June.

The aim of the association, according to Cameron Otto, membership committee chairman, is to get a member from each household in LaVale.

Letters containing a membership application and reply envelope will be sent out to the residents of the community.

Mr. Otto said the committee hopes to get the full support of the citizens of LaVale which could be beneficial when legislation is sought in the General Assembly at Annapolis.

Later this month, a door-to-door canvass will be made by the association. Others on the committee are Dr. Harry Butler, Mrs. Robert Huck and Allan Macy.

A Helping Hand

Karen Ann Martin, 2½, clutches her mother's hand as her mother feeds her a lump of sugar containing two drops of Sabin oral polio vaccine. Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin, 304 Pennsylvania Avenue, took her vaccine yesterday at Penn Avenue School, one of 17 dispensing centers in the county where vaccine will be administered again today.

Everybody's Welcome

You're welcome today at any dispensing center for oral polio vaccine, no matter where you live or how old you are.

People who live in Garrett County, or in West Virginia or Pennsylvania are invited to visit any of the 17 centers listed elsewhere on this page between 11 a.m. and 10 p.m. today.

Doctors want everybody between three months and 45 years of age to take the vaccine. But persons older than 45 can get polio too, and they will be given the vaccine if they want it. Some who came to the centers yesterday were in their sixties and seventies.

You can get a free ride to the vaccine centers by calling PA 2-3353.

Local Group Is Formed On Employment

Robert B. Kimble, who yesterday completed his term of office as executive director of the Maryland Department of Employment Security, recently organized a local advisory committee to assist the state agency.

Mr. Kimble said Allegany County was selected to begin an experiment which will give the agency an insight on problems of unions, industries and individuals on the local level.

He said the views expressed on local levels throughout the state will aid the department in the formation of new laws and services.

Members of the local advisory committee include Dr. Charles L. Kopp, retired educator who will serve as chairman; W. Hudson Nix, personnel manager at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company; F. T. Bell, personnel manager at the Kelly-Springfield Fire Company; Robert L. Ebert, manager of the S. T. Little Jewelry Company.

J. E. Mullenax, president of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO; James R. Stewart, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America; and Andrew M. Lewis, president of Local 180, Glass Workers Union.

Mr. Kimble said his successor, Stephen C. Cromwell, plans to continue the experiment and expand it to the 19 other offices throughout the state if it proves successful.

The local group will provide the Department of Employment Security with ideas and suggestions which the agency may want to use in its policy making.

Ridgeley Firemen Answer Call

The Ridgeley Fire Company answered an alarm yesterday at 12:10 a.m. after a falling tree took down power lines on Potomac Street there.

Twelve men responded to the alarm and stood by for about an hour until power company crews arrived to make repairs.

Firemen said power was off for about two hours as a result of the break in the transmission line.

Dance Tonight

A round and square dance will be held at 9 tonight at Minke's Cottage Inn by the Baltimore Pike firemen and auxiliary. Wayne Brown's Orchestra will play.

Shinnamon Gets Bid For County Board Position

LaVale Man Named

Louis V. Shinnamon, proprietor of Shinnamon's Shoe Store here, last night was nominated to fill a vacancy on the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The announcement was made by J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of the Republican State Central Committee following a meeting of the GOP steering unit.

Mr. Shinnamon was nominated for the post held by William A. Wilson, 47, a Republican member of the County Commissioners, who resigned yesterday to accept an appointment as a judge of the Maryland Tax Court.

Mr. Shinnamon, who lives in Dressman's Addition, LaVale, is owner and operator of Shinnamon's Shoe Store which he established on Baltimore Street when he came here in 1947.

Nine Fined In Game Law Violations

Game wardens in Allegany County have started a crackdown on violators of the fishing laws with a result of nine persons being fined yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court here.

Only one person, Dustin K. Merrill, Tucson, Ariz., stood trial on the game charge, and he was found guilty of having an improper angler's license. He was fined $20 and court costs by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

Others who forfeited fines yesterday were Patrick Souder, Frostburg, $12 for exceeding creel limit; Charles A. Keller, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., $20, fishing without a license; Betty J. Keller, Berkeley Springs, $20, fishing without a license.

Hearing Today In Motor Case

Richard C. Landerberger, 31, of RFD 1, Bowman's Addition, will be given a hearing this morning in Trial Magistrate Court on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Landerberger was arrested yesterday afternoon by Trooper J. W. McFarland and is being held in Allegany County Jail to await trial at 10:30 a.m.

The arrest in the case was made after a local cab company contacted police and said Landerberger had given the company a bad check as the final payment for the taxi and then took the vehicle to Hagerstown.

Tawes Calls Extra Session Of Assembly

Set For June 9;
Will Ask New Loan Legislation

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Friday signed a proclamation calling a special session of the Maryland Legislature for next Friday to enact new legislation to regulate savings and loan associations and broaden powers of Baltimore's Municipal Court.

He mailed special delivery letters to the 123 members of the General Assembly advising them the session will be held at 11 a.m. June 9.

Tawes took the action after petitions signed in the Baltimore area blocked the effect of acts passed at the regular session of the legislature until they could be put on referendum at the general election in November, 1962.

Enact New Bills

The Legislature will be asked at the special session to enact new bills circumventing the effect of these petitions. It will also consider an amendment to new sales tax adjustments to insure that prepared food bought in grocery stores will not be subject to tax the same as restaurant meals.

The petitions blocking the June 1 effective date of the two bills were filed with the secretary of state Wednesday by James H. (Jack) Pollack, Northwest Baltimore Democratic leader, and associates who accompanied him from Baltimore.

Pollack, in filing the petitions, also raised a possible threat of court tests against any emergency legislation that might be enacted to get around the petitions. He said this would deprive signers of their right of petition under Article 16 of the state constitution.

One of the measures implemented a constitutional amendment approved by voters in 1960 replacing Baltimore City's Police and Magistrate Courts with a new Municipal Court.

Replace Police Court

The court began sitting under an interim act May 1 with 11 judges performing duties formerly carried out by district magistrates. It was to be expanded to 15 judges on June 1 at which time its powers also would be broadened and it would be fully staffed with court personnel. This latter bill is the one blocked by petitions.

The Savings and Loan Regulatory Act was drafted by a special study commission headed by Richard W. Case, prominent Baltimore attorney and friend and adviser of the governor. It brought under state regulation for the first time the $1.5 billion savings and loan industry in Maryland.

Tawes has said the legislature can get around the delay in savings and loan regulation by granting such powers to the present Department of Assessments and Taxation instead of creating a new Savings and Loan Board as provided in the Case Bill. New positions cannot be created in an emergency bill.

Allegany Class To Hold 35th Annual Reunion

The Class of 1926 of Allegany County High School, Greene Street, will hold its 35th annual reunion with a dinner at the All Ghan Shrine Country Club on June 10 at 6:30 p.m.

This class was the largest and last to graduate from Allegany County High School and annually holds a reunion. Each fifth year an effort is made to have as large attendance at the reunion dinners as possible. Reservations have been received from about 80 persons from more than a dozen states. In the intervening years, a dinner is held by the local and immediate area classmates.

Special guests this year will be Dr. Charles L. Kopp, retired school superintendent who was principal when the class graduated, and Miss Kathleen R. Cumbee, now a teacher at Fort Hill High School who was the class advisor, along with several other former teachers who have been invited.

A "yearbook" will be presented to each member, giving present address, occupation and other pertinent information about each class member, and a program has been arranged, including a memorial service for departed members of the class.

An election of officers will be held.

Writer Offers Own Ideas For Western Shows

DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — There have been complaints lately from critics, networks, advertising agencies and plain old people that the new Westerns are no different from the old Westerns.

The problem is strictly one of lack of imagination in the production centers.

Here, for absolutely free, are some thoughts on Westerns which would be new and daring, and yet have tried-and-true audience-getting potential:

1. This Is Your Saddle.

Here is a show that has everything the public wants. Ratings prove it. The central figure is a different cowboy each week with horses he has known. Each horse whinnies from off-stage, and the cowboy gets a chance to remember when he has known the horse. Then the horse trots onstage, they embrace tearfully, and all go off to dinner later at a riding academy.

2. The Untouch Stables

A surefire Western about the days of the big cattle barons who rode roughshod (which is harder than side-saddle) over the small ranchers, sodbusters and dirt farmers. Fighting these sagebrush syndicates was Slim Ness and his gang of bounty hunters. In the big scene, Slim's boys raid a place where bootleg oats are sold.

3. Candid Spur.

Each week, a camera and microphone are hidden on a ranch, generally inside a tumbling tumbleweed. We catch memorable views of cowpokes at work and play, gouging each other's eyes out and so on. In one trick sequence, Dorothy Collins rides up to the livery stable, hitches her horse to the horse-hitcher and asks for hay. Only she isn't on a horse.

4. The Bushwhackers.

With situation comedies so successful, here's a situation comedy about an average range family—Maw, Paw and their faw kids. This is set in the remote Montana hills where Paw is a mathematician. Maw runs the ranch, and the kids are regular scamps. There's Jed, Ned, Ted and Deirdre.

Jed likes to slide down banisters—which is tough in a ranch house. Ned raises albino black-snakes. Ted speaks four languages (Crow, Sioux, Kiowa and Turkish) as well as his native tongue, Aramaic. Deirdre has begun to discover boys. She keeps four locked in the corn crib.

Lovable is the word for The Bushwhackers.

5. The Law and Counselor Prodder.

A prairie lawyer, Roger Prodder, makes friends throughout the West by the way he handles cases. (He got started as an apprentice longshoreman). Every week, he rights another wrong. Like the time he found Kid Gloves, the gunfighter, accused of shooting 17 men in Cold Blood, Ariz. He quickly got him off, because he proved that the Kid only had 16 bullets.

6. I've Got a Six-Gun

A Western panel show should be successful, and this is the one. Four outlaws are on the panel, and the challengers are all marshals and sheriffs. When the moderator says, "Draw," they all fire. The networks should go for this show, because it is inexpensive.

There can be variety in Westerns. All it takes is a bit of imagination.

Linked Romantically

Tom Poston, of "To Tell the Truth," is being linked romantically with Liliane Montevecchi, star of "La Plume De Ma Tante," now in Las Vegas. It's said that Poston flies to Vegas weekends to see her.

Griffith makes his first title defense against Mexico's tough, cagey old pro who, in their last meeting, lost a hair-line decision to Emile. Ortega amazed the boxing world earlier this year by defeating welterweight champion Benny Paret in a non-title fight at Los Angeles. (Griffith then kayoed Paret to win the crown). This should be a rip-roaring fight between two strong, willing sluggers. Griffith figures to come on in the late rounds to take the decision. —(Stanley Weston, Boxing Illustrated).
